The allies and associated governments will no doubt be willing that a Rhine-land republic shall be formed in the western territory of Germany after the reparation money demanded by the allies has been paid or absolutely guaranteed, but until that time there is not much prospect of support of the Rhine-land republic. The formation of a republic in western Germany might mean a desire to throw off the burden of financial responsibility for damage done by Germany during the war, and hence no action toward recognition of such a government will be taken at the present time, it seems likely.

Commissioned officers of the United States army who considered it very distasteful to be compelled to return from Europe on the same ship with privates and non-commissioned officers must have imbibed something of the spirit of European institutions and much to their disadvantage, too. Such class distinction, even though it is in military life, does not comport well with the usual democratic standards of the United States and with the normal American life. It is to be hoped that the war did not make any start toward building up a military class like that which dominated Germany and which made German standards more or less of a laughing-stock throughout the freer parts of the world. In Germany an officer considered himself several notches above the common people, or the civilians, and he conducted himself in a manner highly displeasing to those who loved democratic notions. The American people will not tolerate a similar display of snobbery on the part of U. S. commissioned officers.

Nearly a year after the armistice in the great war was signed the French government has given recognition to Major General Clarence R. Edwards, formerly commander of the 26th division, by bestowing upon him the croix de guerre, with palms, for distinguished service in aiding France to shake off the yoke of the German oppressor. In consideration of the fact that the croix de guerre, with palms, has been conferred on Americans who, without a doubt, gave far less service than did Major General Edwards and who occupied positions far lower than that of the former leader of the 26th, it appears to be somewhat tardy recognition and perhaps calls for some explanation, at least from the commander of the American expedition.

ary forces. Just why Major General Edwards had to wait nearly a year for the citation does not become apparent to those who have followed the career of the beloved commander of the 26th since he took charge in the United States and amid, great handicaps, whipped the division into shape for transportation in response to France's urgent call for aid.

ANOTHER SUMMER WITHOUT BASEBALL IN BARRE.

A summer season is passing without a baseball team in Barre. More than three months of the best baseball weather that an anxious manager could hope for have been wasted as far as exhibition of the national pastime is concerned. Fans and would-be fans have sat around in the pool rooms, paraded the streets or housed themselves up in disgust over the lack of an opportunity to get out in the open, to indulge in some good, hearty lung exercise and at the same time to get some mental recreation by watching nine athletes cavort about the field. There was no war to distract their attention or to detract from the attendance. There was daylight saved a-plenty which could have been devoted to the good old sport. There was plenty of coin waiting to be spent in support of a team (providing someone had gone after it right). There were several fields which could have been secured for little, or nothing.

Yet in spite of all these incentives to having a representative team, nothing was done; and now the season is fast drawing to an end. Another season of such fine possibilities for the game should not be allowed to slip by without Barre having a baseball team. We would not need to have such a crackerjack aggregation as we had in the old Northern league days; but we could get along with a team built up of local amateurs of ability with perhaps a few men imported for the "big" games. Providing, of course, our opponents did not get to buying the baseball ability of men of known skill in the outer world. We have had an example of what can be done in the case of the Graniteville team and the Moretown team, both of which have been playing first-class ball, as good as the minor leagues afford, and which have furnished excellent amusement for large crowds. We need not be too ambitious. Get a team of the calibre of the Graniteville or the Moretown team another year and have a live baseball town. There is almost everything to be said in favor of such a plan and little to say against it.

Resinol healed that skin trouble

When you think what a source of annoyance and suffering that eczema has been to me in the past three years, do you wonder I am thankful that the doctor prescribed Resinol? The very first time I used it, the itching stopped and in a surprisingly short time the eruption began to disappear.

Resinol Soap should usually be used with Resinol Ointment to prevent the skin from becoming dry. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. Resinol Soap helps to clear your complexion.

Stole Cash and Cigarettes.

Bellows Falls, Sept. 2.—Henry Blake, 18-year-old son of George Blake, appeared before Judge P. E. O'Brien in municipal court on Friday afternoon, charged with larceny of $5 in cash and three packages of cigarettes from a drug store here. Blake pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $35 and costs. Friday morning Blake stopped at the drug store on his way to work. While the clerk was in the rear of the store, he took the money and cigarettes. Chief of Police W. S. Severance, who happened to be in the store, saw the theft and placed Blake under arrest.

Makes Life Worth Living

You cannot be constipated and happy at the same time. If almost everything you eat distresses you, and brings on a headache, gas on the stomach, heartburn, etc., you can easily eliminate these conditions by taking SEVEN BARKS, the favorite root and herb remedy for stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS will expel the distressing acids, and dangerous poisons, and help you back to good digestion and active health, making life worth living again. Do you sleep well? or are you troubled with almost sleepless nights? While there are many causes for sleeplessness, it generally happens that deranged stomach, liver or intestines are the real cause of the trouble. If your appetite is not good, or food distresses you, or the bowels do not move daily, you can get quick relief from these disagreeable conditions by simply taking 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals; this is nature's remedy made, from the extracts of Root and Herb, has stood the test for nearly 30 years, and will certainly give you a feeling of new life.

If you would have the glow of health, and banish the blues, don't neglect to ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. Costs but 50 cents.—Adv.
